

Wholesale Hosted Communications with Cisco Webex

The perfect finishing touch to your voice and collaboration portfolio

The modern workplace is changing fast. And your customers need to adapt to keep up.

Businesses want more. They want the ability to be able to work together from anywhere, and on any device, with smart, secure collaboration tools.

And that's why we've added Cisco Webex to our Wholesale Hosted Communication (WHC) solution. It's the perfect finishing touch to your voice and collaboration portfolio.

As well as enterprise-grade video conferencing, Cisco Webex delivers instant messaging, file sharing, collaborative spaces and IP calling features. Everything your customer needs to work and communicate better, no matter where they are.

If you want to help both new and existing customers embrace the flexible-working future. Just add Webex.

Game changing features

By combining our solution with Cisco's latest technology, you can offer your customers the perfect package.

A package which packs more oomph, with game-changing features that allow your customers to work better from anywhere. They can host HD video meetings that make them feel like they're really together. While instant messaging, file sharing and support for the apps they use every day makes it easier to work as a team. Plus robust security and privacy, to protect your customers and their businesses. A complete suite of collaboration tools that can scale for organisations of all sizes. Backed by our 24/7 monitored next-generation network.

Together, we provide the unified communications you and your customers need to get ahead.

Move to the cloud

Change isn't just happening in the present - there's more coming. The ISDN/PSTN switch-off in 2025 means that everyone will need to move to IP telephony.

So why not get your customers prepared right away?

It's time to get them ready for the all-IP switchover - and Webex is the way to do it.
